MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN OPPOSITION TO
PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO FILE
SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

Date: September 29, 2008
Time: 2:30 p.m.
Dept.: 11 - Courtroom of the Honorable John A. Houston
Trial Date: None

STATEMENT OF CASE

Plaintiff commenced this action by filing a complaint on September 19, 2007. Although the caption of her original complaint named perhaps eleven defendants, only four responded to the complaint. Apparently, no others were ever served. The four who did respond moved to dismiss. At the March 3, 2008, hearing on the motions to dismiss, the Court instructed plaintiff file an amended complaint consistent with the

1 Court's ruling. On May 22, 2008, plaintiff filed a fourteen page first amended
2 complaint. Because the first amended complaint did not name three of the original
3 four responding defendants, the Court dismissed those defendants (Children's 4 Hospital, Diana Chase and Dr. Morteza Mirkarimi, Doc. 50.) The fourth responding
5 defendant Julie Smith then moved to dismiss the first amended complaint. That 6 motion is under submission.

7 Plaintiff's claim arises out of the removal of her children from her home, and the 8 issuance of orders and judgments by the California Superior Court Juvenile Division 9 finding the removal to be proper and designating the children as dependents of the 10 court under California Welfare and Institutions Code section 300 et seq.

11 Plaintiff complains that false evidence was used to obtain the dependency orders
12 and judgment removing the children from her custody. Because plaintiff's action
13 seeks to have this Court re-weigh and re-evaluate the evidence and arguments on 14 which the dependency orders and judgment were based, defendant Smith moved to 15 dismiss the entire action because it is barred by the Rooker-Feldman doctrine;
16 precluded by the claim preclusion defense; fails to state a claim against defendant
17 Smith who has absolute immunity for participating in the juvenile dependency 18 proceedings; and because the matters about which plaintiff complains are within the 19 exclusive jurisdiction of the California Superior Court.

20 Plaintiff now asks for leave to file a second amended complaint even while this
21 Court has under submission defendant's motion to dismiss her first amended
22 complaint.

23 I

24 PLAINTIFF'S REQUEST TO AMEND SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE IT
25 PREJUDICES DEFENDANT, WILL CAUSE DELAY AND IS FUTILE

26 Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure, rule 15, amendments will be denied 27 where it would cause prejudice to the opposing party, is sought in bad faith, is futile, or 28 ///

1 creates undue delay. Moore v. Kayport Package Exp., Inc., 885 F.2d 531, 538 (9th
2 Cir. 1989).

3 "In deciding whether justice requires granting leave to amend, factors to 4 be considered include the presence or absence of undue delay, bad faith,
5 dilatory motive, repeated failure to cure deficiencies by previous 6 amendments, undue prejudice to the opposing party and futility of the proposed amendment. (citations omitted) Leave to amend need not be given if a complaint, as amended is subject to dismissal. (citations omitted)." Id.

7 Plaintiff seeks to file a second amended complaint that she says does not add
8 claims but only embellishes the facts underlying her lawsuit so the Court can better
9 understand her assertions. The proposed second amended complaint is 54 pages long,
10 has legal arguments regarding motions to dismiss (at p. 20), has four single spaced
11 pages of legal citations, itemizes no less than 15 theories of recovery including state
12 law claims for which no California Tort Claims Act claim is alleged to have been filed 13 prior to the commencement of the action (the failure to file a tort claim subjects the 14 state law claims to dismissal under California Government Code section 945.4), and 15 adds another six people to the list of defendants including the re-naming of the three 16 original responding defendants whom this court dismissed.

17 The rambling factual narrative and statement of legal argument seems more like 18 an opposition memorandum to defendant Smith's motion to dismiss than a complaint.
19 Plaintiff's request for leave to file the second amended complaint should be denied.
20 Granting plaintiff's request to file the document as an amended complaint will cause
21 prejudice to defendant, will delay a disposition of this action, and because the second
22 amended complaint suffers from the same defects as does the first amended complaint,
23 if not more, it would be subject to dismissal and hence futile.

24 Plaintiff's motion to file a second amended complaint is premature because the 25 Court has yet to rule on defendant's motion to dismiss. Defendant identified
26 jurisdictional and claim preclusion defects fatal to her action. The proposed second
27 amended complaint does not address those defects. Plaintiff cannot reasonably 28 ///

1 propose amendments to rectify those defects, if any, absent a ruling on the motion to
2 dismiss.

3 Plaintiff's motion for leave to file a second amended complaint should be denied
4 because it prejudices defendant insofar as it, as a practical matter, seeks to circumvent
5 issuance of a ruling on the motion to dismiss that the Court has under submission.
6 Leave to amend would also result in a waste of the defense and judicial resources
7 already dedicated to the preparation and analysis of defendant Smith's motion to 8 dismiss. In preparing the motion to dismiss, defendant expended substantial time and 9 resources to provide the Court with a summary of the Superior Court Juvenile 10 Division's dependency proceedings with cross-references to the allegations of 11 plaintiff's first amended complaint at the Court's request. Should plaintiff be allowed 12 to file a second amended complaint before the Court rules on the motion to dismiss,
13 defendant's efforts in preparing the motion to dismiss would be for naught. Even if 14 defendant's motion to dismiss is partially successful, it would be incumbent on 15 plaintiff to amend in accordance with the Court's ruling. This, plaintiff cannot hope to 16 achieve by filing a second amended complaint at this time.

17 Allowing plaintiff to file a second amended complaint at this time would result
18 in delaying the resolution of the legal issues raised by defendant's motion to dismiss.
19 It is appropriate to deny leave to amend when a motion to dismiss is pending, and 20 plaintiff has had the opportunity to correct pleadings, and allowance of the amendment
21 would delay resolution of the motion to dismiss. (See Dopp v. Loring, 245 Fed.Appx.
22 842, 850 (10th Cir. 2007), unpub., cited for limited purpose as allowed under Fed.
23 Rule App. Proc., rule 32.1). And because the proposed second amended complaint
24 suffers from the same basic jurisdictional and claim preclusion defects as the first
25 amended complaint, namely that plaintiff is seeking damages based on the Superior
26 Court dependency orders and judgment that have not been reversed, her proposed 27 second amended complaint is futile.

28 Plaintiff's motion to amend should be denied.

II

BY HER MOTION TO FILE SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT, PLAINTIFF IS ATTEMPTING TO ADD NEW PARTY DEFENDANTS
WITHOUT SHOWING SHE DID NOT KNOW ABOUT THEM
WHEN SHE COMMENCED THIS LAWSUIT

Plaintiff seeks to add even more defendants to her second amended complaint than she did in her first amended complaint. In defendant's motion to dismiss the first amended complaint, defendant pointed out that although fictitiously designated defendants can be named after the original complaint is filed, that practice is allowed in federal court only if California fictitious defendant designation and inclusion requirements can be satisfied. Merritt v. Co. Los Angeles, 875 F.2d 765, 768 (9th Cir. 1989). To add a defendant in place of a fictitiously named defendant the plaintiff must be ignorant of the defendant's true name. Id at fn. 6. Here, plaintiff's motion to file an second amended complaint does not demonstrate she did not know the names of the people she wants to add as new parties. Because the newly named defendants are her attorney and the social workers she dealt with during the Superior Court dependency proceedings, it is unlikely that she could satisfy the ignorance of true name requirement. The amendment to add previously known persons as defendants is impermissible and should be disallowed.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, plaintiff's motion to file a second amended complaint should be denied.
